REMOVAL OF AMBASSADOR WILSON WILL BE ASKED

Americans at Mexico City Have Ire Aroused
When he Fails to Respect National Hymn
---Third Time he Has Offended in Like Manner

Special to Telegram.
Mexico City, July 5.—A movement was started in the American colonies here today to petition the department at Washington to transfer Ambassador Henry Wilson from the scene of his present activities because of a lack of respect for the National American hymn, the ambassador being so busy eating when it was played yesterday that he did not rise to his feet.

The incident which has caused so much comment occurred at the presidential dinner party. The famous Mexican military band was playing America out of compliment to the day. As soon as the familiar strains of the opening bars were heard President De La Barra, who was seated next to Mr. Wilson, asked the ambassador if it was not customary while the hymn was played in the United States to rise, the President rising as he spoke. Ambassador Wilson replied "we are eating; what's the use?" By this time everybody except the American representative was standing and realizing the situation he too arose.

This is the third time Mr. Wilson has offended the colonists in the presence of Mexican officials.

WRANGLE FOR ATTORNEYSHIP IN ILLINOIS

Special to Telegram.
Chicago, July 5.—The controversy over the appointment of the United States District Attorney for the northern district of Illinois has been definitely settled, according to an announcement from Washington today and James H. Wilkerson, now special assistant attorney general in charge of trust prosecution in Chicago gets the plum. He will succeed his bosom friend and old chief Edwin W. Sims, who has held the district attorneyship for the last five years. The agreement of Senator Lorimer to join with Senator Cullen in recommending Wilkerson for the place ended the wrangle over the appointment.

HEAT Causes Taft to Stop in Pittsburg on Return From Indianapolis

Special to Telegram.
Pittsburg, Pa., July 5.—Sweltering from the excessive heat President Taft stopped over here today en route to Washington from Indianapolis. When the President's train was nearing Steubenville, Ohio, early this morning the air pump on the engine went out of commission. President Taft denied himself to all callers while at the union station here.

Morocco Question Not Settled.
Special to Telegram.
Paris, July 5.—Conversations are still on between France, England and Russia relative to France's response to the intervention of Germany in Morocco. The press of France daily prints the question: "What does Germany want?" and criticizes the government for a lack of decision in defending the interests of France, accusing the cabinet of leaning too heavily on the initiative of England.

SEVERAL WANT TO SUCCEED H. C. BROWN

Special to Telegram.
Raleigh, July 5.—Who will succeed Henry Clay Brown as corporation commissioner? is a question that is being asked on every side now. It is expected that Governor Kitchin will name the successor to Mr. Brown within the next ten days. The commission is just now in the midst of one of its most arduous tasks, the general assessment of all the public service corporations and corporations generally for taxation, this in addition to the work of the commission as a state tax commission in the supervision of the tax assessments generally the state over. No one seems to have any clear idea of just who will be in the race for the place or available for it. It is expected that Former Speaker of the House A. W. Graham, of Oxford, will be in line. He was a formidable candidate against Commissioner Lee in the last State Democratic Convention. There are those of an observant and calculating mind who speak of Capt. T. W. Mason, of Northampton county, as probably an especially desirable and available man for the place. Former Corporation Commissioner E. C. Beddingfield, of this county, is being mentioned as an especially well-equipped man to step into this work at this time if he can be persuaded to leave his farm for official duties again. Mr. Beddingfield's health was poor at the time he retired from office and was succeeded by B. F. Aycock, the predecessor of Mr. Brown, but he is fully restored now and many are mentioning him for the place.

American Duchess Conspicuous at the Leading Social Event of the British Coronation Season.

The Duchess of Manchester, who was Miss Helen Zimmerman of Cincinnati, took a leading part in the Shakespeare ball, which will go down in history as one of the memorable social events of the recent British coronation season. The function was suggested by Mrs. George Cornwallis West, a former American. All the dancers were in costumes of Shakespearean character. In the picture the Duchess of Manchester is seen at the extreme right of those standing.

HEATING PLANT FOR CITY HALL BUILDING PLANNED

At yesterday's meeting of the Board of Commissioners the matters of putting in a heating plant at the City Hall was discussed. It is estimated that the plant will cost about $1,200, but it is believed that the saving in fuel will more than pay for this expenditure. At present the offices of the three commissioners, the city clerk, the police office and calaboose are heated by separate stoves and the janitor is kept busy in the winter time carrying coal to supply the various stoves. Then too the heat in the various offices is most irregular as it is first too hot and then too cold.

The heating plant, it is believed, would consume less than half the coal it takes to operate the stoves in each office and it would be much cleaner as the present arrangements call for various lines of pipes and the soot is always covering the floors, not counting the smoke that issued therefrom. The commissioners are also preparing for the removal of the calaboose, this coming under the direct supervision of Commissioner Brown, and the prisoners' quarters will be in the new building before winter time.

MODERN American Diplomacy Scored by Represent- ative Henry in House Yesterday

Special to Telegram.
Washington, July 5.—Representative Henry, of Texas, chairman of the rules committee severely scored international marriages and the glitter of modern American diplomacy in the House today. He took down the lines to the tune of Democratic laughter, those rich representatives of the United States government who spend each year in the foreign capitals to which they are accredited ten and twenty times the amount they receive in official salaries. Mr. Henry reviewed the brilliant history of United States diplomacy in the days of long ago in order, as he said, to point a moral and adorn a tale. Then he started in to throw a few bricks. Our hearts and tears, said Mr. Henry, should go out to the American women who have married foreign noblemen, who occupied places of honor at the coronation and also those who well entitled were excluded from the festivities. Should not the blush of shame and anger come to the face of every true American when he realizes the dignity of this great republic thus compromised and abused in foreign courts by envoys who maintain from their private purses a style of living characteristic of the government sending them as mere mendicants. Mr. Henry declared that if we are to continue as a republic existing conditions in our diplomatic service must be changed.

The marriage was performed this afternoon at Tarrytown, N. J.

The Guilford County Board of Education, composed of W. T. Whitsett, chairman, C. H. Ireland and J. C. Kennett, at the annual meeting held Monday elected Thos. R. Foust as county superintendent and appointed district committeemen for a number of schools, deferring action as to some until an adjourned meeting to be held on July 15. At the adjourned meeting the board on July 15 the location of another high school in the county will be decided upon by the board, the State Board of Education having made an appropriation of $250 for this purpose. It is understood that several localities want the school and they will set forth their claims at that time. The community must raise $250 and the county $250. The law provides that there shall be two teachers in the primary department of the school and the term of the primary department shall be 5 months and the high school department term shall be 7 months. He said he had been unjustly convicted, but as he could see no way out of his present trouble he would accept his prison sentence with good grace. Clemenson's wife was found dead in her bed from the effects of chloroform poisoning. He told several stories concerning her death when examined by police officials.

Fayetteville, July 5.—Congressman William Kent, of California, and ex-Sheriff J. F. Jordan, of Greensboro, who are preparing to develop a large tract of territory lying in Cumberland and Harnett counties, have closed a deal with W. J. Johnson, of Red Springs, for an additional 9,000 acres of land in this section. The purchasers propose to divide this land together with the 22,000 acres already purchased into small farms. AMERICAN WIDOW NOT IN ASYLUM

Special to Telegram.
Paris, July 5.—There is no truth in the report circulated in some sections of the United States that Mrs. Richard Mansfield, widow of America's famous actor, is in an asylum in this city. Mrs. Mansfield and her son are at the hotel Dre Moille, staying with her friend, Mrs. White. She expects to return to America after a short visit to Switzerland. Mrs. Mansfield has received numerous letters of late inquiring into the state of her health and has been unable to understand the solicitations of her friends.

BILL To Establish an Inter- state Trade Com- mission Intro- duced in the Senate

Special to Telegram.
Washington, July 5.—The establishment of an interstate trade commission to control industrial corporations as the Interstate Commerce Commission does the railroads is proposed in a bill which Senator Newlands, of Nevada, introduced in the Senate this afternoon. Corporations engaged in interstate trade whose annual receipts exceed $5,000,000 are to be under the jurisdiction of the commission, but smaller corporations may, if they desire, accept this jurisdiction. The commission is to have five members, to be appointed by the President with the consent of the Senate, not more than three of whom shall belong to the same political party. After it has become established each member then is to be appointed for 10 years.

OVERCOMING THE DUST NUISANCE.

An oiled street is not a thing of beauty, but it is a joy to the people who use it and who live alongside, as the oiling effectually destroys and dispels the dust. If this fact was unknown in Greensboro heretofore, there is ample evidence of it now to be found on the streets which have been oiled. The oiling of West Market street has just been completed and the work is no doubt satisfactory to the residents of this street and to all who have occasion to travel it. The best settler of the dust which has been discovered is oil prepared for this purpose and applied to the surface of the street, as has been done on West Market. The dust on that street has disappeared. The most rapidly moving automobile does not raise a sign of dust on the oiled street.

Oil has been applied with satisfactory results during the past few years to dirt roads, to macadam roads and to macadamized or cherted streets. West Market was a macadamized street and the results obtained on that kind of surface are certain to be good. The writer has seen oil applied to dirt roads with most satisfactory results.

The oiling of streets makes sprinkling to keep down dust unnecessary; and where streets are regularly sprinkled, the saving on this score should be sufficient to keep the streets oiled. The gain in favor of oil from this standpoint comes from the fact that the oiled street is never dusty, while it is almost impossible to keep a street wet all the time and the result is a dusty street between the periods when water is applied.

Oil not only destroys dust, it preserves the streets or roads to which it is applied. From this standpoint it is difficult to calculate its worth to streets and roads. It is being found necessary to almost continuously carry on the work of repairing improved roads or streets which have been macadamized or which have been covered with chert. Traffic is daily growing heavier, especially automobile travel, which is more damaging to roads and streets of this class than any other kind of traffic. To avoid the expense of frequent repairing and to destroy the dust and make travel much more agreeable, oil has been found most useful. The oil is specially prepared for the purpose and when properly applied has lasting qualities beyond what would ordinarily be expected. The oil does the work and has met with general approval wherever it has been given a fair trial.

It is said that it is quite probable all the main streets of this city will finally be oiled. The movement looking to this is in the right direction. The city cannot sprinkle all the streets. The expense of equipment and of maintaining this service would be too great. It might be possible to arrange to oil the streets as often as will be required to keep them in good condition. The elimination of the dust in this case would be a great consideration and the preservation of the surface of the streets would probably justify the expenditure.

Greensboro enjoyed the Fourth despite the disastrous termination of the two little contests waged between the Patriots and the Twinstown team.

The blackberry crop has survived the hot and dry weather in fair shape, for which let us be thankful.

Doubtless the powder trust is happy, as a result of the rushing business done in its products on the Fourth.

The Fourth was safe and sane in Greensboro. Even the Winston people at the ball game were reasonably so.

The Fourth of July having passed into history, the next thing on the program in those slow towns in South Carolina will be Thanksgiving Day.

Perhaps it was professional courtesy which led one Kentucky lawyer to stab another. No doubt if the victim had not belonged to the profession he would have been filled full of lead.

The Journal wants to know if Atlanta's ball team can come back. That question is as often asked in Georgia as the question, Will Hoke/Smith be elected to the United States Senate?

Mr. Bryan's denial that he is the dictator of the Democratic party will not convince some men. When they measure their influence in the party with Bryan's influence they are driven to the conclusion that the Nebraskan is running the party.

Greenville, S. C., Piedmont wants to know if Sidney Tapp of Atlanta, is going to run for President. The Piedmont has not carefully followed the career of the celebrated Mr. Tapp. He is now and has been for some time a citizen of Denver.

Ad Wolgast, the American (name does not look American), met Moran, probably an Irishman, but representing Great Britain, on July Fourth, and the result was just what was to be expected. The American won the lightweight championship of the world.

It is to be regretted that a few hundred thousand of those arrogant South Carolinians were not at the Battle Ground July Fourth. They would have learned there that South Carolina was not the entire original thirteen States and did not fight the Revolutionary War single handed against England.

High tariffs are levied for the benefit of the common people, so the high tariff advocates claim. If this be true it is strange that the people never realize any of the benefits of high tariffs. The money tariff laws enable the people of this country to make all goes into the pockets of the owners of protected industries.

How long will the country have to wait to find out if the United States Steel Corporation is a reasonable or unreasonable trust? Commissioner Herbert Knox Smith has discovered that it was a trust about ten years ago. He appears to be uncertain as to its present status, but is inclined to the belief that the Corporation is yet an organization in restraint of trade in that it restrains competition.

It is reported that the presidency of the University of Alabama will be offered to ex-Secretary of War J. M. Dickinson of Tennessee. It is also rumored that the presidency of this institution will be offered to Dr. John W. Staggs, who recently resigned the presidency of the Alabama Presbyterian College for Men at Anniston. Dr. Staggs is well known in North Carolina, as he was pastor of a Presbyterian church in Charlotte a few years ago.

The Columbia State hands the Richmond Times-Dispatch a common sense answer to an alleged argument against the income tax. The Richmond newspaper is opposed to everything calculated to deprive the special interests of their unwarranted privileges, consequently is opposed to the income tax. The Columbia State says the more the income tax is considered by the people with big incomes the more firmly they are convinced that it is a shame to tax big incomes.

Interest in the railroad proposed from Greensboro to Roxboro, Oxford and Henderson, is growing on the other end of the line. Good news comes from Henderson and Oxford and there has never been any doubt about the position of Roxboro. The latest advices from Oxford and Henderson are that the people are talking railroad and more and more of them are taking the position that these towns and their counties ought to unite with Greensboro and Guilford in building the proposed road.

The Herald thinks that Durham has done but little toward punishing blind tigers and breaking up the business in that city. The fact that Durham has done but little does not mean that it is impossible to rid a town of blind tigers. Asheville has practically broken up the illegal liquor traffic. There are former blind tiger operators in the chaingang in Buncombe county, and others have left the State and will doubtless never return. This is an indication of what can be done when the law abiding citizens of a community awake to their duty and wage a systematic campaign against law breaking.

Charlotte celebrated the Fourth by voting bonds to the amount of $815,000 for public improvements. The bonds carried by majorities ranging from 283 for auditorium bonds to 444 for school bonds. The sum voted is apportioned as follows: Water bonds, $350,000; sewer bonds, $150,000; school bonds, $100,000; street improvement bonds, $150,000; auditorium bonds, $65,000. With nearly a million dollars for public improvements Charlotte should enjoy a large measure of prosperity while the money is being expended, and the improvements secured will undoubtedly add largely to the permanent prosperity and future growth of the city.

Victims of Its Own Demagogues.

The observations of the Springfield Republican about the language said to have been used by Judge Brand of Georgia, in respect to a lynching in that State, will be applauded by self-respecting persons in the South, supposing that the Georgian has been accurately reported, but they illustrate the hardship that the South suffers often through foolish and vicious utterances of its public officers.

The race prejudice is not stronger in the South than in most parts of the North. The lynching spirit is more characteristic of New York City than it is of most counties of Georgia. As we have recently pointed out, there are no hands of ruffians roaming through Georgia to beat and kill negroes because they are negroes. Booker Washington has never been assailed in the South. For the lynching of a negro in this part of the country there is always a cause—or at least a fancied cause—but the New York newspapers continually tell of attacks on negroes that have their origin in race hatred and nothing else. Lynchings are infrequent for no better reason than that policemen are always in call to prevent them. Attempted lynchings are of almost daily occurrence in New York.

We do not hear, however, outbursts of the kind attributed to this Georgian from judges in New York or in any other Northern State. Judge Brand is an exception in the South, but in the North sympathy with lynching is never expressed by persons in authority—there are no Judge Brands, there are no politicians to encourage lynching publicly, no governors and senators to set up for it excuse and apology. Consequently, the South is constantly pointed to as the "lynching belt" and a single attack on a negro in Georgia draws more hurtful attention to that State than do a dozen equally reprehensible in New Jersey.

Nor may we rightfully complain because the South is judged by its public officers. When men are placed in high and responsible posts, their actions and sayings are presumed to be representative and from the consequences there is no escape. When a governor defends lynching, his State will be put down as a State of lynchers; it will be inferred that the lynchers are in the majority—that is the rule of the world whether it be a just rule or not.

If lawlessness in the South has caused good men seeking homes to shun it, the lawlessness has, in the first place, been exaggerated by Southern men, the Southern apologists for it. If intolerant and prejudiced Northern newspapers (a class which does not include the Springfield Republican) have found a malicious relish in advertising the South's delinquencies, they have had no difficulty in obtaining texts for their diatribes from Southern demagogues whose favorite appeal is to those voters who are the least worthy among the citizens of the South.—Columbia, S. C., State.

THE STEEL REPORT.

Committee's Revelation of Operation of Vast Corporation Calls Forth Comment.

It is as if Commissioner of Corporations Smith, as the government's head gamekeeper, had been sent out into the forest to inquire into the nature and habits of a certain dragon, as to which disquieting rumors were afloat. On the model of this Steel Corporation document his report would have read thus:

(a) Of this dragon no man need be afraid. Were he not stuffed out and padded in every part of his body, his rough skin would hang loose upon his old bones. His strength is in no wise proportioned to his apparent bulk. As to his long and armored tail, I have discovered that it is of paper-mache. It would be detached by one good kick of the Federal boot. Besides, the animal is growing weaker.

(b) Nevertheless, owing to the enormous power which this scaly monster wields through the possession of such an immeasurable tail and because of his terrifying appearance and his irresistible strength, it would appear to be necessary for the public peace and safety to find some effective means of taming and controlling him.—New York Times.

From a Corporation Viewpoint.

Mr. Smith succeeds in showing that the Steel Corporation's proportion of the total business has materially diminished in the course of the 10 years. That is to say, as against about 60 per cent of all crude and finished steel production in 1901 it has not now much over 50 per cent, "indicating conclusively," as he remarks, "the continuous presence of strong and increasing independent production."

Instead of restraint of trade, enlargement of trade; instead of decreased competition, increased competition; instead of approach to monopoly, recession from the monopolistic boundary—whatever

ENDEAVOR CONVENTION AT ATLANTIC CITY

In Session Until July 12th—Large Attendance and Many Features—Many Distinguished Men of This and Other Counties on Program

Special to Telegram.

Atlantic City, July 5.—With every hotel and boarding house crowded to its utmost in charge of the twenty-fifth International Christian Endeavor convention, which opens here tomorrow and closes on the 12th, predict that all past attendance records will be eclipsed, and that the present gathering will go down in history as the most successful rally since the birth of the organization. That the most sanguine predictions of those in charge of the great convention have been surpassed is jubilantly admitted at headquarters, and when a reason for the vast attendance is sought the officials point with pride to the long and interesting program devised for the delegates' instruction and amusement, and the list of prominent speakers who have signified their intention of addressing the delegates and visitors. Among the latter are: President Taft, Hon. Champ Clark, Speaker of the House of Representatives, former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks, Judge Ben Lindsey, of Denver, Booker T. Washington, Commander Eva Booth, of the Salvation Army, Rev. F. J. Horsefield, President of the British Christian Endeavor Union, Rev. G. Fukuda of Japan, Rev. H. I. Marshall, of Burma, Rev. R. S. Gray, of New Zealand, Hon. John Wannamaker of Philadelphia, and a score or more of prominent pastors and specialists in Christian Endeavor work from many denominations and missionaries from foreign lands.

and wherever that may be.—New York Sun.

"Prosecute Those Responsible."

These broad facts will awaken a universal public challenge which will call for a reduction in the price of a necessity like iron and steel and a prosecution of those responsible. This demand will be deep and supported by the fact that the steel trust owns three-quarters of the ore supply of the country and also because of the exorbitant commission of $2,500,000 reaped by bankers when its shares were floated.—Philadelphia Press.

Gravamen of the Case.

The gravamen of the case against the Steel Trust is that it is tremendously overcapitalized, and that millions in "watered" stock went into the pockets of the promoters. The first statement, although denied by the trust officials, is probably true, while the second assertion is unquestionably a fact. It will be said, of course, that the trust should not have overcapitalized, and its promoters should not have made a fortune for themselves. It merely duplicated, however, the history of nearly every corporation in the country, the only difference being that it dealt in millions where other corporations were confined to thousands. With other questions of vital public concern the report does not deal at all. It does not discuss the question whether the trust has absolutely controlled prices or whether the public has been made to suffer as the result of the combination. Above all, there is not the slightest intimation that the Steel Trust has been guilty of the reprehensible methods pursued by the Standard Oil Company in securing a monopoly of business.—Washington Herald.

Personal Liability Invoked.

The obvious, the only imaginable, purpose of the combination was that very restraint, not of competition merely, but of trade, which very properly is made illegal, and it is no wonder that in accordance with legal advice the associations were some time ago voluntarily dissolved. Their discontinuance, however, does not affect the personal liability of their members, and if some leaders in "big business" should be convicted at the trials which are impending it would be a good thing.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

As John R. McLean Sees It.

There is very little satisfaction for rabid trust busters in the report of the Bureau of Corporations on the Steel Corporation. If the biggest merger in the United States is operating in violation of the Sherman law, there is no evidence of it in the report. On the contrary, it is pointed out that vigorous competition exists, which has resulted in a relative gain of independent production. The Steel Corporation now handles little more than half of the steel business, and its proportion of the entire output is decreasing, although its operations are expanding and its business is in a thoroughly healthy condition.

Even in the matter of valuation of assets, the government report reflects credit upon this gigantic corporation.—Washington Post.

Other features of the program will be on Atlantic City's million dollar pier, a great structure of concrete and iron that extends a quarter of a mile into the Atlantic. This service is planned for the early morning. From 9 to 10:30 a. m. each day the Christian Endeavor Institute will meet to discuss all phases of the manifold undertakings of the great organization. For those who do not care to attend the meetings of the Institute an innovation, "the consultation hour," has been added to the program. During this period Endeavorers will be free to bring their personal problems to the Society's experts for consideration in a conversational way.

From 10:30 to 2:45 will be the rest period. At 3 p. m. and 8 p. m. there will be two or more great simultaneous meetings on the pier where the great questions of personal religion, evangelism, missions, temperance, civic righteousness, interdenominational fellowship and international brotherhood, will be discussed by speakers of international repute.

Tomorrow evening the convention will be opened on the million dollar pier by an address from President Francis E. Clark, D. D., LL. D., prayer and praise services, and a musical program, which includes some special music by the Hawaiian delegates and the Washington chorus. Among those who will speak are John T. Sproull, president of the New Jersey State Christian Endeavor Union, Rev. Howard B. Grose, D. D., vice president of the board of trustees, and William Shaw, general secretary of the society.

Friday, July 7, will be President's Day. It will begin at 6:30 a. m. with a quiet sunrise hour on the million dollar pier. At 9 o'clock the institute will convene for the discussion of Christian Endeavor work by a long list of speakers. In the afternoon the Indianapolis chorus will be heard at the Auditorium Endeavor, while those attending the auditorium Williston will listen to Enos Bacon, "The Yorkshire Nightingale," and W. C. Weeden, soloist, together with the Essex, Hudson and Union counties' chorus. In both auditoriums practically the same program will be followed, which will include special religious services and dissertations on the work of the organization throughout the world. Friday evening President Taft is scheduled to address the assembled Endeavorers in both the auditoriums Endeavor and Williston, together with Judge Ben B. Lindsey and John Wannamaker.

On Saturday the usual routine will be observed, with music by the Atlantic City Junior chorus in the afternoon and the United choruses in the evening. Sunday morning will be taken up with special services at which over a score of pastors will address the delegates. On Sunday after noon the million dollar pier will be the scene of two meetings, one for men and the other for women, which will be entertained by a combined chorus of men and a similar body of women, each singing before their own sex. The meetings will be addressed by several prominent ministers. In the evening the Philadelphia and Reading, Pa., choruses will sing before the audience in the auditoriums Williston and Endeavor, while Commander Eva Booth, of the Salvation Army, will address the audience of the auditorium Endeavor, and the Rev. F. B. Meyer, of London, will talk to the Endeavorers in the Williston. Christian Endeavor and prison reform will be discussed by a number of prominent divines at the pavilion on the million dollar pier.

On Monday afternoon after the routine program, denominational rallies will engage the attention of the delegates, while in the evening the meetings will be addressed by a number of men prominent in Endeavor work. Music will be provided by the Baltimore Endeavor chorus at the Williston and the Reading, Pa., chorus at the auditorium Endeavor.

At the auditorium Endeavor on Tuesday the Baltimore chorus will provide music, while the audience of the Williston will be entertained by the Washington chorus. Both audiences will be given short talks by the organization's state presidents, besides the routine work.

On Wednesday, the closing day of the convention, the regular program will be supplemented by two combined choruses which will number nearly twelve hundred voices, each, and will sing before the audiences of the auditoriums Endeavor and Williston. Then the Endeavorers will formally break camp with a benediction and closing message from President Clark.

"Safe and Sane" Results Seen in Municipal Court

With an enormous number of holiday visitors in the city and large crowds thronging the streets at all hours of the day, the Fourth proved exceptionally "safe and sane," as evidenced in the comparatively short docket in Municipal Court yesterday morning. In only four instances did the merry-makers in the all day celebration depart from the ways of the law-abiding as prescribed by the city statutes. Only two drunks were found, which is a remarkably good record considering the nearness of Danville and the fact that the initiated can at all times find supplies of "juice" and ginger in certain favored localities.

Matthew Headen, the colored janitor of the city hall, was found guilty of being drunk and down, and for his liberty contributed a fine of $7.50 and the costs to the city treasury.

B. R. Foster, a young white man, was tried and found guilty on two charges. In company with another white youth, Roscoe Faulkner, he answered the charge of affray, and as both were equally guilty each was given a fine of $5 and the costs for the disturbance. Foster displayed a revolver during the fight and was fined an additional $30 and the costs for the misdemeanor of carrying concealed weapons.

Delphus Jeffries, for carrying concealed weapons, was fined $20 and the costs. The case against Mary Houston, a negro vagrant, was tried but confined for judgment at a later date.

Mose Darnell, a young negro, was given 30 days at labor on the city streets for being drunk and disorderly.

John Perchard was found not guilty in a case charging him with assault.

Kill More Than Wild Beasts.

The number of people killed yearly by wild beasts don't approach the vast number killed by disease germs. They're in air, water, dust, even food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Bitters, which destroy and expel these deadly disease germs from the system. That's why chills, fever and ague, all malarial and many blood diseases yield promptly to this wonderful blood purifier. Try them, and enjoy the glorious health and new strength they'll give you. Money back, if not satisfied. Only 50c. at Fariss Klutz Drug Co.

"Weary, wake up," said Limping Lem, shaking his fellow-traveler's shoulder. "Wake up! Wot's de matter wid youse?" "Huh?" asked Weary, half opening his eyes.

"Wot's de matter wid youse? You bin havin' de nightmare?" "Gee! I guess I did. It was horrible! I was dreamin' dat I was a boy again and me mudder was gittin' ready to give me a bath."—Chicago Record-Herald.

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.
Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Simplicity of Speech.

Whether or not the traveler is right who contends that 50 words are enough for a man's practical needs, his theory of an abridged vocabulary for everyday use is in line with the tendency of speech in this country. We are simplifying the language to the extent of preferring the simpler forms of expression, both in our writing and our speaking. It is purifying our speech and improving our diction. The master of simple English, who can write or speak in terms of the most commonplace language, is the most effective. Even eloquence may be well defined as simplicity.

A great New York minister has recently published a series of discourses in book form and one may read half way through the volume before he comes upon a word that is not common to the simplest speech. Yet the book in its diction is powerful. There is such a thing as working for the language, and such a thing as letting the language work for you. The master of English does the latter.

Kidney Diseases Are Curable under certain conditions. The right medicine must be taken before the disease has progressed too far. Mr. Perry A. Pitman, Dale, Tex., says: "I was down in bed for four months with kidney and bladder trouble and gall stones. One bottle of Foley's Kidney Remedy cured me well and sound." Ask for it. Howard Gardner.

"What did your wife say when you got home the other night?" "Not a word. She just sat down at the piano and played 'Tell Me the Old, Old Story.'"—New York Evening Mail.

Escaped With His Life. "Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin, Port Harrellson, S. C. "Doctors said I had consumption and the dreadful cough I had looked like it, sure enough. I tried everything I could hear of, for my cough, and was under the treatment of the best doctor in Georgetown, S. C., for a year, but could get no relief. A friend advised me to try Dr. King's New Discovery. I did so, and was completely cured. I feel that I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure." Its positively guaranteed for coughs, colds, and all bronchial affections. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Fariss Klutz Drug Co.

"Do you use condensed milk at your house?" "I guess so. We order a quart a day, and the milkman squeezes it into a can that holds about a pint."—Toledo Blade.

Hay Fever and Summer Colds Must be relieved quickly and Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will do it. E. M. Stewart, 1034 Wolfram St., Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled during the hot summer months with Hay Fever and find that by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I get great relief." Many others who suffer similarly will be glad to benefit by Mr. Stewart's experience. Howard Gardner.

"Do you think he would be cool in time of danger?" "I think his feet would."—Houston Post.

Honest Medicines Versus Fakes. President Taft's recent message suggesting an amendment to the Pure Food and Drugs law in its relation to Prepared Medicines, does not refer to such standard medicines as Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and Foley's Kidney Pills, both of which are true medicines carefully compounded of ingredients whose medicinal qualities are recognized by the medical profession itself as the best known remedial agents for the diseases they are intended to counteract. For over three decades Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been a standard remedy for coughs, colds and affections of the throat, chest and lungs for children and for grown persons, and it retains today its pre-eminence above all other preparations of its kind. Foley's Kidney Pills are equally effective and meritorious. Howard Gardner.

The successful dentist merely lives from hand to mouth.

Foley's Kidney Pills are composed of ingredients specially selected for their corrective, healing, tonic, and stimulating effect upon the kidneys, bladder and urinary passages. They are antiseptic, antilithic and a uric acid solvent. Howard Gardner.

WALL STREET SWAPS MONEY FOR DEGREES

Men Who Give Liberally to Educational Institutions are in Turn Recipients of Degrees Liberally Bestowed

Special to Telegram.

New York, July 5.—It is not alone in England and other European countries that the possession of huge wealth secures the preferment of titles. In America we find the same thing. It is true that in this democratic land of ours we do not run to counts, barons, earls, dukes and the like, when titles are being given out, for we have no such. But the titles are here nevertheless. For instance, it is a hard matter to take a dozen steps in lower Manhattan without rubbing shoulders with a doctor or two. The favorite honor is LL. D. The recipient of this title need not possess any marked aptitude for either legal lore or literature.

One cynic, on reading that a multimillionaire had been elevated to the LL. D. rank, asked: "Does that stand for Lots and Lots of Dollars?" The universities apparently are believers in reciprocity. For years financiers have been donating millions to schools of learning, and it is only fitting that such generosity should receive some reward. A degree costs nothing and it is a sort of badge of respectability. Fancy conferring degrees upon some of the stalwarts of the stock market of a generation ago! Wall Street is rising in the sociological scale.

America is a big country, and Americans believe in doing things on a big scale. We were the first to organize a billion dollar corporation, and now we have broken all records for mortgages. James J. Hill's $600,000,000 Great Northern one never having been equaled by any other company. The tendency is toward huge bond authorizations, as has been demonstrated by numbers of weak as well as strong systems. A Wall Street concern has compiled interesting data from which it may be gathered that "the aggregation of railroad lines into larger systems, the continued requirement of new capital to finance their or three speculators of recognized brilliancy, but Mr. Baker has had the advantage of being able to summon to his aid virtually unlimited resources. He has also been closely and confidently associated with certain of the most powerful capitalistic groups in the world. Once he demonstrated his shrewdness, his colleagues were willing that he should be given a free hand. His operations have been unimaginedly successful. But there are those who contend that the president of an important bank—or even an unimportant one—has no right to devote his talents to stock market maneuvers.

Among the financiers identified with the National City Bank are a number who have likewise been extremely fortunate in their stock market enterprises. James Stillman, chairman of the board, has amassed a huge fortune through his own initiative. He no longer takes an active part in the daily doings of his bank, yet it is understood that his advice is always forthcoming on important problems. President Vanderbilt has naturally been less heard of as an operator in securities. He has distinguished himself as an expert in bonds, not only in analyzing their worth, but in organizing a department of unequal efficiency for the distribution of investments, particularly among the banks of the country. On the directorate of the City Bank are capitalists enjoying the very best opportunities for knowing what is going on in the inner financial circles. The likelihood, therefore, is that a National City Securities Company would be able to build up a very profitable business. The chances are, however, that the greater success of the innovation the more widespread would be the criticism on the part of the public.

Stock Exchange brokers view with alarm this tendency of the powerful banks to appropriate new territory which in past years was left exclusively to brokers. First came the trust companies and took away part of the business formerly handled by commission houses. Then the more enterprising banks began to devote attention to the vending of bonds and in some cases stocks. Today the volume of securities purchased through banks and trust companies is very great. The average brokerage concern in the meantime has been visited by a series of lean years. If all the leading down town banks should decide to set up security companies as side lines the plight of the ordinary commission house would be worse than ever. Private banking houses are also uneasy. Just how far the departure will be allowed to

WEATHER FORECASTS.

Texas—Fair in west; unsettled in east, probably showers in extreme east.

J. E. LATHAM'S COTTON LETTER.

Greensboro, N. C., July 5.—The government condition report 88 2-10 per cent shows that the crop has not only maintained its brilliant start but has made a small gain; all of which is in line with private reports.

It is indeed doubtful whether any crop over the whole belt has been so satisfactory in all respects as this one, unless it be 1898, when the yield per acre turned out 240 pounds. No one has even suggested, much less predicted such a yield this year because the world has become accustomed to disaster crops, say about 160 pounds per acre.

More intelligent farming methods, combined with greater fertilization, will some day find nature willing and then 240 pounds will be exceeded. Without meaning to predict any such yield this year, (which would be disaster), it is not impossible.

The world needs a big crop of not less than 13½ millions, or say 190 pounds per acre. Many people are puzzled as to why these extraordinary conditions do not bring lower prices. Three answers according to the "rule of reason" may be suggested: First, The amount of visible supply does not warrant much hedge selling. Second, Growers in many cases are willing to sell a part of their prospects but they lack the facilities or knowledge for doing so through the exchanges and the dealers' remembering the sad experiences of recent years prefer to protect their sales by buying futures. Third, The wild bull market of the past two years has told upon the nerves of the cotton trade and everybody is scared to sell fearing a repetition.

There is an area of 3 or 4 million acres in Texas and Oklahoma that needs rain badly, but some part of this normally arid region seems to be in this fix every year. The rest of the belt is so nearly perfect that some decline is to be expected in prospects.

Trade conditions in textiles do not improve at home or abroad and while mills' stocks and store stocks are small there is no disposition to buy ahead. With the tariff doctors at work on the cotton schedule the outlook for cotton mills is very gloomy.

Curtailment has set in sure enough in America. Many mills are on short time and many are closed down. The visible supply of American cotton is again larger than last year and since a large August movement of new cotton is likely indications are that the first of September will show a larger visible supply than last year.

J. E. LATHAM.

COTTON LETTER TO J. E. LATHAM.

New Orleans, La., July 5.—There has been only a few showers in the western belt so far and those mostly in the southern and eastern portions of Texas. The map this morning shows fair weather in Texas and Oklahoma, with no rain except 1.4 at Galveston. Indications are for increasing cloudiness in west, probably showers; in the eastern portion of Texas cool wave approaching; the northwest creating prospects for a break in the dry spell in Oklahoma also. Continued unsettled showery weather indication for the central and eastern States.

Liverpool this morning was about as due but advanced rapidly towards the close, following the lead of our markets. Spot prices 4 higher, sales 8,000. In line with recent cable information Manchester is buying spots more freely. Early wires from New York reported aggressive support by leading new crop longs and this market soon showed a gain of 30 points in new crop prices. This stimulated short covering here and October, after opening ten higher, advanced to 13.30.

Traveling crop reporters in Texas now confirm the reports of backwardness and deterioration due to dry weather which had already come to us and which we mentioned in these columns ten days ago. The market is firm at the advance expecting a bullish weekly weather report at 11 a. m. Liverpool cables report heavy buying of new crops for New York account.

HAYWARD & CLARK.

Drought in Oklahoma.
New York, July 5.—According to a statement by Secretary Hennessey, of the Oklahoma Board of Agriculture, drought has done great damage to Oklahoma crops. He states there is every prospect for a big cotton crop, but that the outlook for other crops is not good.

Hot Wave Unabated.

New York, July 5.—The heat wave continued unabated yesterday from South Dakota to northern Texas as well as in the middle Atlantic States, New England States, Ohio and upper Mississippi Valley and Plains States. Temperatures exceeding 100 degrees were quite general in Oklahoma, Arkansas and east Texas. Moderate temperatures prevailed last night in South Atlantic and eastern States where scattered showers and thunderstorms occurred yesterday.

Weekly Government Weather Review.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—Precipitation occurred generally over the eastern and central portions of the cotton region but the amount was mostly light. Over the western portion precipitation was light and scattered and over southern and eastern Oklahoma and in northern and central Texas, northwestern Louisiana and southern Arkansas no rain fell. More than 2 inches occurred in parts of Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina. The greatest weekly amount, 3.31, occurred at Covington, La. Temperatures ranged from about normal to 8 degrees above normal over the cotton region. The region of greatest excess in mean temperature was in Oklahoma and the least in parts of Texas and Alabama. The weekly means ranged from 74 to 84 degrees over the eastern, from 80 to 84 degrees over the central portion and from 82 to 86 degrees over the western portion of the cotton growing States. The lowest mean temperature was 74 degrees and the highest 86 degrees.

Condition Bad in Texas.

New Orleans, July 5.—San Antonio, Texas, wires: "Clear and hot and very dry here. Expect today to be one of the hottest days of the season. Outlook gradually growing worse. Every day now without rain will be a day of damage as the plant has commenced wilting even in this section, which is the most favored."

CHIEF DUTY OF SHEPHERD

It is to Shear the Sheep, According to Children of Whom Dr. Jowett Tells.

Rev. Dr. Jowett, at a dinner in New York, said, apropos of his salary: "The cost of living is so high over here that I have decided, after all, to accept the generous salary that I first declined. I hope that this acceptance won't call to my congregation's minds, however, the story of the sheep."

"A minister, you know, was once addressing a Sunday school. It was a Sunday school of little children, and the minister in his address desired to compare himself to a shepherd, and his congregation to the shepherd's flock."

"What are these beautiful animals?" he said, pointing to a drawing on the blackboard.

"Sheep! Sheep!" chorused the children.

"And the cloaked figure in the foreground—what is he?"

"A shepherd!" the children cried.

"Exactly," agreed the minister, beaming with satisfaction. "And now, dear children, can you tell me what it is that the shepherd does for the sheep?"

"A score of little mouths opened wide, and a score of treble voices cried shrilly:

"He shears 'em!"

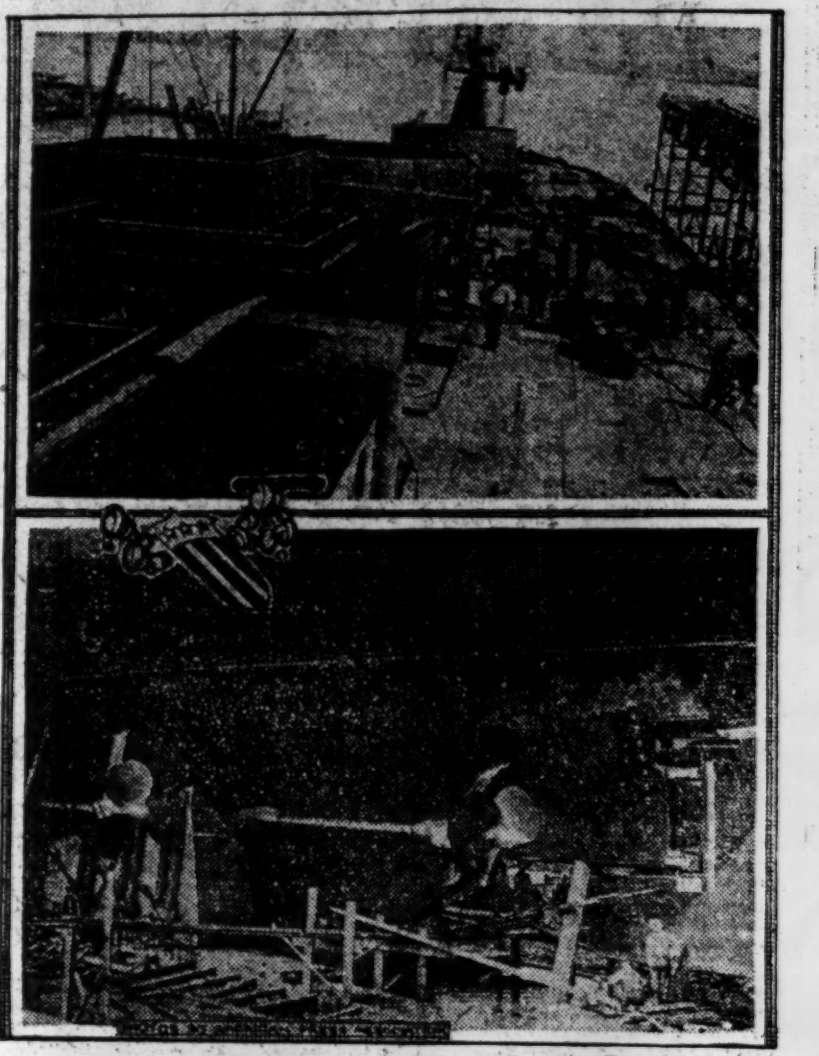

"Thinks he's in the same class with Abraham Lincoln, does he?"

"Yes, and confidently expects a promotion,"—Harper's Bazar.

Putting the Finishing Touches On the New Battleship Wyoming

Photos by American Press Association.

THOUGH the new Dreadnought Wyoming, the most powerful battleship ever built for Uncle Sam's navy and the equal of any fighting craft afloat, was launched some weeks ago at Philadelphia, the vessel will not be ready for her official trial for a year or so. Indeed, the warship today looks but little like it will when it is ready to take its place at the head of a squadron and be listed in the Navy Register. The picture above shows the deck of the Wyoming as it now appears. Two of the turrets that are to carry the twelve inch guns are shown, but they have not yet been covered with the armor that will protect the huge rifles and the men who operate them. This armor will be twelve inches thick and of the hardest steel that can be made. The other picture shows two of the propellers that will drive the Wyoming through the water. An idea of the size of the propellers can be had by looking at the figure of the workman under the propeller at the right. It will be noticed that each of the three blades on the propeller is almost as long as the man.

UNCLE HIRAM TO HIS NEPHEW

He Gives the Youngster a Little Advice as to When to Make Decisions.

"Don't," said Uncle Hiram to his hopeful young nephew, "make any momentous decision when you're tired. When we're tired we want to get the question settled and we're ready to make concessions, to give way, and the other man is sure to get the better of us."

"We often hear it said that it's a good thing when in doubt about anything to sleep on it, and this is sound advice. The general theory of the benefits to be derived from sleeping on a question is that sleep clarifies the mind, but in coming to a settlement about a thing the most important advantage that we find in sleeping on it lies in the renewed strength that sleep gives us. It renews our courage, makes us ready not to give way but to stand up and fight and fit and able to fight."

"Don't be in a terrible hurry to settle things, Stevey, anyway. There are times when you must settle when the iron is hot, but as a general proposition don't be impatient to get things settled; it's the man able to keep cool and wait and let the other fellow do the worrying that generally gets the biggest piece of the cake."

"We may meet occasionally a man of high and unbroken continuous courage, but not often; the biggest of men have heart sag at times, though they may not show it; we are all human and much alike under the skin if that's any comfort to you; we all have our moods; times when we are buoyant and happy and times when we are low in spirits and depressed."

"Don't, Stevey, settle things when you are feeling low and dispirited. You'll take a different view when you come back, as you inevitably will, to the summit."

"Let your decisions be made, Stevey, not when you are tired or depressed but when you are fit and strong, and pride and habit will make you live up to them."

Early School Books.

The horn book invented in 1450 and used considerably up to the close of the eighteenth century was the usual textbook of the elementary school. A thin slab of hard wood was covered with parchment, on which was printed the capital and small letters, numerals and some elementary syllables and words.

Over this a thin sheet of transparent cow's horn was placed and firmly bound so that no moisture could penetrate. To this the Bible and the sampler on which little girls painfully stitched the letters of the alphabet, some "Godly saying" and a border of herring stitch, or some conventional pattern of impossible flowers and foliage and the legend "Mary Smith, her sampler," or the like, were about all that the children used up to the beginning of the eighteenth century.

And some church members seem to think it is up to the minister to make good for the entire congregation.

FIRM'S SIGN WAS CHANGED

Bulky Lumber Dealer Gave Way to Son When Letter Passed Him in Weight.

"When I knew John Fiske," said a Westchester politician, "he was in the lumber business on the West side of New York city, with his son as a partner. Both were heavyweights and both had the same name. John, Sr., for years had scaled about 360 pounds. He was a mammoth man, being more than six feet tall, very wide and very deep chested. His son was constructed on similar lines, and they were styled by their intimates as the 'heavyweight firm.'"

"Father," remarked the son one day, "I rather think that I've been gaining on you lately and I wouldn't be surprised if I weighed more than you do now."

"Foolish talk, my boy. I'll bet you by 100 pounds. You are heavy, but you are not in my class yet."

"Let's get on the scales and find out. What do you say?"

"Quite willing to submit to the test, they weighed. John, Sr., balanced the beam at exactly 362 pounds. John, Jr., scaled 365. Although astonished, John, Sr., merely said: 'I didn't think it, John, and you certainly don't look it, my boy.'"

"Separating, the young man gave no more thought to the incident, but the next day he was further surprised. The firm's sign had been changed. Hitherto it had read 'John Fiske & Son,' but now the deposed heavyweight had transformed it to 'John Fiske & Father.'"

Remedies are Needed

Where we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other intestinal derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

NORTH STATE CAPITAL NEWS

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, July 5.—Guy C. Alston, former North Carolinian, now an attorney in Everett, Wash., is in the city with his wife and child, guests at the Governor's Mansion, visiting Governor and Mrs. Kitchin. Mr. Alston left North Carolina in 1886 and says that while he is closely attached to his adopted city and state, he retains his love for Carolina and rejoices in her evidences of great prosperity and increasing enterprise.

The six members of the sub-text book commission are to resume their official duties July 10, taking up the work of examination of the different text books offered for adoption for use in the public schools during the next five years. They are to have their reports on these ready by August 3 when the bids of publishers are to be opened and the actual work of adoption begun. There are to be no more hearings unless it becomes necessary to summon one or another of the bidders to adjust some price on a book that the commission may feel inclined to adopt except for the price being too high.

It is announced that the Carolina Power and Light Co. operating the Raleigh street railway system, has purchased 160 acres of land five miles northwest of the city at Lassiter's Mills and will establish a big pleasure park there for Raleigh, the street railway to be extended out there by way of Glenwood, the Fairview road, the Grimes Coper place and the Raleigh Country Club.

Governor Kitchin grants a pardon conditioned on good behavior to Ralph Pollock, serving eighteen months on the roads for assault with deadly weapon. He has served one year of the sentence. The prisoner was only sixteen years old when the offense was committed.

The funeral of the late Henry Clay Brown, Corporation Commissioner, was held this afternoon at 5 o'clock from the Edenton Street Methodist church of which he was a member. Dr. Harry M. North, the pastor, officiating. There was a very large audience and the floral tributes were especially beautiful and numerous. The interment was with Masonic honors. Mr. Brown having been a member of Hiram Lodge, No. 40, the members of which attended in a body.

The board of stewards of Edenton Street Methodist church also followed the remains in a body as a tribute to the deceased. The honorary pall-bearers included Governor Kitchin, Col. J. Bryan Grimes, secretary of state; B. R. Lacy, state treasurer; Col. W. P. Wood, state auditor; J. R. Young, commissioner of insurance; M. L. Shipman, commissioner of labor; T. W. Bickett, attorney general; Franklin McNeill, of the Corporation Commission; Secretary A. J. Maxwell, of the Corporation Commission; Adjutant General R. L. Leinster; W. T. Lee, corporation commissioner; Major W. A. Graham, commissioner of agriculture; Prof. Hugh Morson and J. W. Bailey. The active pall-bearers were Joseph G. Brown, C. J. Hunter, B. S. German, Robert C. Strong, Chas. E. Johnson, Brown Shepherd, W. A. Linehan, J. S. Griffin.

Chairman Ashley Horne, of the state building commission, paid today to the Grimes Estate corporation the $45,000 that the state pays for the site on Morgan street between Fayetteville and Salisbury streets fronting the capital square, for the state fire-proof administration building. It is expected that the details of the plans for the building will be completed within ninety days for the reception of bids and awarding the contract for the building and that the construction can be gotten under way before the new year. The title to the site formally passed from the Grimes corporation to the state today.

Joseph A. Godown, of Columbus, Ohio, J. J. Barnard and J. W. Hinsdale, Jr., are the incorporators for the Ware U-Well Shoe Co. of this city, that proposes to open a shoe store and operate a shoe factory here. The capital is $25,000. They expect to have the plant in operation by the early fall.

RESCUED BY AN ALBATROSS

Big Bird Spurred Drowning Sailors to Renewed Efforts, and They Were Saved.

If you are a wise albatross you won't squat yourself down on the sea and ravenously stare two drowning men in the face, as one of your ancestors did back in the afternoon of the last century. You will hover over them in the rear without their knowledge until they are too weak to fight you, and then—ah, what a meal!

Duncan McCullum, an apprentice on the Ship Ennerdale, of Liverpool, who was sent aloft to loose the sky sail as the vessel rounded Cape Horn, lost his footing, plunged into the sea and was carried far astern. Before H. S. Pochin, an able seaman, who went overboard to his assistance, could reach the apprentice, he sank.

Himself now in danger of drowning, Pochin called for help, and Thomas Averett Whistler, first mate of the Ennerdale, sprang into the water with a life buoy and succeeded in reaching Pochin before his strength gave out. Together they struggled in the water, awaiting the coming of the ship's boat, which was so long getting under way that they were rapidly becoming exhausted.

Here, Mr. Albatross, is where your ancestor misjudged human nature and lost a luscious dinner. Spying Whistler and Pochin in the water, striving feebly to keep themselves afloat, he boldly swept down into their very faces, alighted on the water just out of their reach, and waited for them to grow too weak to resist his attacks. Spurred to renewed energies by this unexpected threat, the two men, who had been on the point of giving up in despair, swung their arms and legs savagely, arousing the circulation of blood within them enough to keep off the fatal cramp until the ship's boat could reach them. Then, safe alike from the sea and the bird, they sank into unconsciousness, and one of them, Whistler, was delirious for days afterward.

Your ancestor, Mr. Albatross, realizing that he had failed in his plans, was furious, and had to be beaten off with a boathook.

Playing the Fiddle.

Mr. James P. Turner, chancellor of the Roman Catholic archdiocese of Philadelphia, has a trait in common with the late Archbishop Ryan which enables him to decide to do something without leaving a sting.

Like his late chief, he usually tells a story and then escapes committing himself. Since the balloting for a successor to Archbishop Ryan he has been importuned, cajoled and otherwise held up for a word that would give an idea as to what was the result of the balloting. As he is sworn to secrecy he must keep quiet.

To a group of newspaper men he said: "Once there was an assistant to a man who held a responsible position. This assistant took upon himself much of the credit for his employer's popularity. One day he complained by saying: 'I'm tired of playing second fiddle.'"

"The trouble with you is that you are trying to play first violin before you have learned how to play that second fiddle," was his employer's kindly but firm admonition.

Wonderful Mexico.

Mexico is a country of wonderful resources. As far as mining and agriculture goes it is superior to some good parts of the United States. The climate in some places is in many ways about as fine as anywhere in the world. With the right population in Mexico it would mean train loads of food and minerals and billions of dollars for the rest of the world. You know a long time ago Canada was thought to be the only fit for furs, fishing and trapping, and all the world thought Canada was but a dreary waste of ice plains with plenty of mountains of useless snow. But today you see where Canada is and maybe in another ten years Mexico will undergo a greater change in itself and in the opinion of the world than has Canada.

The Difference.

European cities certainly have a laughing, contented air, people seem to take life easily, they have time for pleasures, if it's only a chair lifted for two cents on one of the broad, shaded boulevards to watch the crowds pass of a Sunday afternoon, says Orison Sweet Marden in Success Magazine. What smiling, care-free faces! One remembers with a shiver the faces in a New York crowd—grim, anxious, frowning, self-centered.

No doubt this atmosphere of joyousness, along with the external beauty and picturesqueness of European cities, has its attraction for our hordes, but, of course, that alone would not make them live abroad and marry foreigners. There are other considerations which bring them to this important decision.

Another Story.

"Do you think the rich men of the next generation will be able to say they started in life as barefoot boys?" "No. But some of the wealthiest dancers will be telling us they started out as barefoot girls."

Shuford Peeler.

The program only covers the opening service, after which the regular lesson will be studied. It is requested by the committee that all schools raise 5 cents for each member enrolled on this day, the money to be used in advancing the work throughout the county.

The program begins with the opening hymn, the invocation by the superintendent and the responsive reading on "Praise," followed by the doxology and a word by the pastor, who will then lead in prayer for the advancement of Sunday school work throughout the county.

The responsive reading regarding the progress made in the work since the organization of the Sunday school will follow. According to the information contained therein the first Sunday school was founded by Robert Raikes in Gloucester, Eng., in 1780. Since that time the work has spread until there are now more than 286,000 Sunday schools with a membership of nearly 30,000,000. Of this number 162,000 schools with a membership of 15,000,000 are in North America. There are about 115 schools in Guilford county with an enrollment of about 15,000, leaving about 33,000 people who do not attend Sunday school.

The program concludes with the singing of the hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers," the reading of the principles of the State Sunday School Association and the Sunday school song.

The object in having a Guilford County Sunday School Day is to arouse a greater interest in the work throughout the county and endeavor to draw a large portion of the population now on the outside into a school and show them the advantages of belonging to a Sunday school.

Mrs. Mary Ferguson
Died Yesterday

Justice Collins
Sits on Two Cases

Mrs. Mary A. Ferguson died yesterday about noon at her home, 918 West Lee street, after a short attack of heart trouble. She was a noble Christian woman and recently rounded out a total of 77 years of continued and useful service for the good of her family and her community.

The death is the second that has occurred in the immediate family within the past year. A son of the deceased, T. A. Ferguson, succumbed from a severe disease about ten months previous.

Mrs. Ferguson is survived by three sons and one daughter. Miss Elizabeth and Samuel Ferguson were yet in the household of the mother at the time of her death. The other sons, W. H. Ferguson, of Atlanta, Ga., and J. E. Ferguson, of Winston-Salem, were notified of her illness, and they, with other near relatives, were at the bedside when the end came.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the deceased, Rev. R. G. Kendrick, pastor of the Forest Avenue Baptist church, officiating in the administration of the last rites over the dead body. For 35 years Mrs. Ferguson had been a consistent and devoted member of the Providence Baptist church, of Caswell county.

The funeral party, composed of relatives and friends, will leave with the body at 9:40 Friday morning for Danville. The interment will be made during the afternoon in the ancestral burial ground of the family located about 6 miles from Danville.

WAYS

And Means Committee to Begin With Cotton Tariff Schedule

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 5.—Chairman Underwood, the Democratic floor leader, has called a meeting of the Democrats of the House Ways and Means committee for tomorrow to begin framing up provisions of the cotton tariff schedule. Mr. Underwood said today that he wanted the work to begin at once and hasten as rapidly as possible.

Had Epileptic Fit.

While standing on South Elm street at Sycamore intersection about seven o'clock yesterday evening, Roy Pennington, who resides on Fifth avenue, was suddenly attacked with a violent epileptic fit, caused probably by the tremendous heat to which the victim was subjected throughout the day. For some time he lay suffering agonies, but Dr. Parran Jarboe was hastily summoned and after working with the patient he was finally restored to a normal condition. No serious effects were felt and young Pennington was able to walk to his home several minutes later.

REVENUERS DESTROY A BIG STILL IN FORSYTH COUNTY

Winston, July 5.—Deputy Marshal G. A. Carroll, Messrs. R. F. Henry and Ashworth, stationed at Wilkesboro, and Deputy Sheriff Carroll, of Rural Hall, went out on a raid last night and succeeded in capturing a still in Forsyth county about one mile east of Seward. The officers found the still last night about 12 o'clock and say it was ready for operation when they examined it by starlight. They hid in a nearby thicket and awaited the dawn, when they expected the owners to appear.

They listened to the night noises until dawn when finally they heard two men approaching. They made for them and succeeded in capturing one, but the other made his escape.

Right fermenters were found at the still and about 1,500 gallons of beer, a few bushels of meal and malt, and a 65-gallon copper still and worm, three five-gallon kegs of "singlings," a two-gallon barrel of whiskey, and a variety of cooking utensils.

Road Matters are Considered by Commissioners.

At yesterday's meeting of the County Commissioners petitions for roads in High Point township were granted and the roads desired ordered opened according to law. Petitions were also received for new roads, one leading from the junction of the railroads near Sanford to the Center road, and one for a road connecting the McAdoo road with the Hay road near Pearce church. Both roads were ordered advertised according to law.

The commissioners ordered the county surveyor to inspect the drainage being done along Horsepen creek and to make a full report of the work to a later meeting.

The board also inspected the North Elm extension road recently improved by the convicts.

The commissioners will meet on July 11 with the county tax assessor as the county board of equalization.

OPPOSITION IS FOUND IN CANADA

Opponents of Reciprocity at Work Across the Line.

RELIGION IS MADE AN ISSUE.

French Catholics Are Told That Measure Is Step Toward Annexation and That This Would Mean Curtailment of Religious Concessions—Popular Election of Senators Lost.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, July 5.—[Special.]—Knowing that it is utterly impossible to defeat the Canadian reciprocity agreement in the United States congress, the opponents of that measure have transferred their fight to the Canadian side of the border and are now engaged in bringing pressure to bear on the Canadian parliament to reject the bill pending before that body.

It is known that there is already strong opposition to the agreement by many Canadians and railroad interests in that country, and an attempt is being made to add others which, it is hoped, will be sufficient to control votes to defeat the Laurier government and its pet project.

A Religious Issue.
About the most important issue raised is that of religion. French Canadian Catholics have been granted concessions and recognition in Canada which they could not get in many other countries and particularly in the United States. It is being insidiously represented to these people that annexation is likely to follow the adoption of the treaty and that if Canada becomes a part of the United States many of the rights and religious privileges they now enjoy would be lost.

As a proof of the probability of annexation attention is called to often repeated remarks of former United States citizens now in Saskatchewan and Alberta declaring that reciprocity is but a step in the direction of annexation. It is said that this religious question is having a considerable effect in stirring up opposition to reciprocity in Canada, but whether or not it will be sufficient to prevent the adoption by the Canadian parliament does not appear in reports received here.

Gone by the Board.
It would seem that the friends of election of senators by direct vote of the people might just as well give up the fight for this congress. The resolution is now in conference, where it will probably remain. The Democrats of the house are determined to have their way about it and will not accept the Bristow amendment. It is very doubtful if the senate can ever recede from the Bristow amendment even if it had a desire to do so.

It is almost certain that the conference will be unable to agree. That will mean a long delay. If the Democratic house sticks to its declared intention of having action one way or another on this measure before adjournment it may force the senate to recall its conferees and again bring the resolution up for action.

Will Make a Pair.
Ollie James of Kentucky will be a good running mate for Senator Martine of New Jersey in the matter of volume of voice. Martine has enlivened the senate a number of times with short remarks in a voice that could be heard across the Delaware. Different senators have had a little fun with him, and Borah of Idaho ridiculed the idea that Martine was a farmer. This caused Martine not only to lift his voice, but also to go across the senate and refute the charge.

Only the other day, when Clark of Wyoming was speaking, Martine wanted to interrupt him, and Clark remarked, "I dread the eloquence of the senator from New Jersey, and I fear his questions, those questions fearfully and wonderfully made."

Quick on the Trigger.
Vice President Sherman has shown that he knows how to push things in the senate. He is "quick on the trigger" and some day if the opponents of the reciprocity bill are not on the job "Sunny Jim" will have the bill ready to pass. He had to deny that "any one was caught napping" the other day when the bill was reported from committee of the whole, one of the parliamentary advantages which Chairman Penrose was loath to relinquish, but which he finally agreed to on account of pressure on the part of Democratic friends of the measure.

Women Were Interested.
Prophet Joseph F. Smith of the Mormon church had a field day when he came to Washington. No man has received quite so much attention from the women as the venerable seer and revelator, whose continual living with several wives gives him notoriety. When he testified at the Smoot inquiry he was also the cynosure of many eyes, the women predominating.

"Where's the Lemonade?"
"Where's the lemonade?" asked a thirsty individual one hot day as he entered the senate press gallery. "Gone—gone forever, like a rushing wave," quoted another newspaper man. The fact is that economy has struck lemonade off the list, not only for the employees and attaches, but for the senate itself. Everybody now gets through the day on clear Potomac water, with ice, of course.

FRANK CHANCE IS KING OF TRADERS

Builds Up His Team at Expense of Other Clubs.

SELDOM MAKES BAD ONE.

Nearly Every Deal Which He Has Pulled Off Has Proved Beneficial to The Cubs—His Latest One With Boston Was Dandy.

By TOMMY CLARK.
Frank Chance, manager of the Chicago Nationals, is the David Harum of baseball. The leader of the Cubs has pulled off more successful deals than any other big league pilot and has never made a bad one. Chance, with Charley Murphy's assistance, began to dicker for players to strengthen the Cubs in 1905. His first big deal was when he hypnotized St. Louis into parting with Mordecai Brown and Catcher O'Neill for Pitcher Jack Taylor, now pitching in the Central league. Taylor was about at the end of his big league string, but St. Louis did not realize it no more than it did that it had a great pitcher in "Three Fingers" Brown.

Catcher O'Neill, along with Pitcher Pfeffer, soon found his way to Boston, Chicago getting Catcher Pat Moran.

who proved to be of great service in teaching young pitchers and helping out behind the bat occasionally.

Then Chance and Murphy mesmerized Garry Herrmann into trading Third Baseman Steinfeldt for Pitcher Welmer. The latter had been a star for the Cubs, but amounted to but little thereafter, while Steinfeldt shone on the Cub infield for years.

That same year Chance traded Pitcher Bert Briggs, Third Baseman Casey and Outfielders McCarthy and Maloney to Brooklyn for Sheppard. The latter is still a star member of the Cubs, while the others passed below the big league horizon several seasons ago.

Along in the middle of the 1906 season Chance got Garry Herrmann in a trading mood again and unloaded Bob Wicker on him and relieved Garry of Orville Overall.

Chance then stood pat until 1910, when he cut loose again. Some of his veteran pitchers—Brown, Overall and Reulbach, for instance—did not get to going just right, and the peerless leader figured that if Chicago was going to win another pennant the pitching staff would have to be bolstered up. He had on hand a bunch of minor league recruits and unloaded Shortstop Tony Smith, Outfielder Davidson and Hap Smith on Brooklyn, getting in exchange Pitcher McIntire. The latter won thirteen and lost nine games, while none of the men traded has stuck to the big show.

A little later Luderus, Chance's first base understudy, was dispatched to Philadelphia for Pitcher Foxen. This was one deal which did not prove to be very beneficial from a Chicago standpoint, as Luderus has been a winner for the Phillies. On the other hand, Foxen has not been of much account as a Cub and was released recently.

On the day when the Chicago team was about to depart for the south to train last spring infielder Scotty Ingerson, who had reported to accompany the team on its training trip, was sent with Pitcher Pfeffer to Boston for Infielder Shean, a star utility man. Ingerson has batted well for Boston, but Chance seems to be satisfied with Shean, who is a high class player.

All of which leads up to the last deal pulled off by Chance, a trade which has shown that Chance has lost none of his cunning as a dealer in athletic chattels. No wonder that Boston fans as well as Vice President Paige are yelling murder. Kling, now on the tobooggan; Weaver, an ordinary pitcher; Griffin, an untired pitcher, and Kaiser, far from a wonder as an outfielder, in exchange for Graham, a catcher who is good now and who is improving; Wilbur Goode, a hard hitting outfielder, who seems to have improved as a fielder since he was a Nap; Cliff Curtis, a fair pitcher, and Collins, of whom but little is known. In other words, Chicago traded Kling for Graham and Curtis, as they are the only players in the deal worth consideration.

GOOD BASEBALL PILOTS ARE VERY SCARCE.

Why can't a baseball club get a winning manager? Right under your nose is the answer: Why don't scouts find star players?

The reply is that they're both too scarce.

Mr. Somers, president of the Cleveland club, has set himself the task of getting for the Naps a "manager who will be a fixture like Clarke, Chance, McGraw, Mack or Jennings."

But Mr. Somers ought by this time to realize that Macks, McGraws, Chances and the like do not grow on lilac bushes any more than star players can be picked off strawberry plants. Cleveland has had several managers in its time as an American league club—McAleer, Armour, Lajole and McGuire. And then look at the kaleidoscopic history of the Brooklyn, Cincinnati, Washington, Boston and other team managements. Read there why first class managers cannot be had. They are too rare.

JOHNSON'S SPEED MISSING.

Famous Pitcher of Washington Is Not Showing Up Well.

Walter Johnson of the Washingtons is nothing like the pitcher he was last year. He neither looks nor pitches as he did during the campaign of 1910, nor is he apt to until he recovers his vitality. His recent sickness has left him weak, and he shows it in his work.

That terrific speed which made Johnson a great pitcher is not apparent this season. His work is only ordinary these days, and he is being hit harder than he ever was during the former three seasons he has been a member of the Washington team.

He may show a flash now and then, but that consistent effectiveness which made him famous is lacking, and it might be good policy to allow him several weeks' rest.

The work that Johnson is now doing is forced, and a pitcher who forces himself is always in danger of injuring his arm, and it is against such a calamity that McAleer should guard himself and his club.

NERVES VERSUS NERVE.

American Coach Likes the Athlete With Imagination.

One of the best football and baseball coaches in the country recently stated that he would rather have his men nervous than cold.

"The combination," said he, "is too much for most men, but nervousness in itself is not a drawback, to my mind. I like athletes with imagination and temperament. It is their imagination that gives them stage fright, but it is also their imagination that ultimately leads them to do almost the impossible when the great test comes. It is of especial value in games in which the men come into physical contact, like football, baseball, basketball and lacrosse. The first contact with the player of the opposing team usually settles the stage fright unless the man is hopeless, and after that he has his 'nerve,' not his nerves, to fall back upon."

CHINAMAN GETS BIG HONOR.

Mongolian Athlete Given Place on All American Soccer Team.

Yale's great Chinese player, Tann, has been selected as left back in the All American soccer football team, which has been selected by the Intercollegiate league committee. Haverford, winner of the championship for 1911 after a tie with Harvard, is named for three of the positions, those of right halfback center halfback and outside left. Tann played brilliantly in all the games he took part in this year.

Stage Fright Affects Youngsters.

New players sometimes do badly at the start from pure stage fright. Arthur Irwin tells of a rattled player who came under his notice when he was coaching Pennsylvania. Penn had a game on with the Phillies and the player booted everything which came his way. "What's the matter?" asked Irwin after the game. "Couldn't you see them?" "Say, coach," was the reply, "I don't even remember putting on my uniform."

BASEBALL QUIPS

American league pitchers are complaining about going into the box "cold." To save time Ban Johnson says they can't pitch five balls to "warm up."

Ty Cobb's young brother Paul has been signed by the Washington team for next season. He is batting over .300 for Lincoln in the Western league. He is also improving in his fielding.

"Give me hitters and pitchers and I'll have a winning team," says Manager Duffy of the White Sox. Which is a good deal like saying, Give me a winning team and I'll have a winning team.

Speaking of the cork center ball, Neal Ball says: "It comes off the ground like a billiard ball taking English off the rail. I don't exaggerate when I tell you I've had the ball come at me so fast that I didn't have time to get down to it. Don't you see the troubles even the outfielders are having with bounding balls?"

Children Dance Like Fairies and Elves on Settlement House Roof

Photos by American Press Association.

ALL children believe in fairies and elves, or, at any rate, it is easy for them to pretend that they do. Believing in these wood nymphs, it is easy to see how they would enjoy playing that they are sprites with nothing tangible holding them to the earth. Sixty girls, ranging in ages from nine to thirteen years, have been giving a pantomime called "Butterfly" on the roof of the University Settlement House, in New York's crowded east side. The performance consisted almost entirely of dances, and yet there were no set steps, the little dancers supplying from their imaginations the dances they thought would fit the story and their parts as fairies, wood elves and butterflies. Without any restraint and left to themselves the children gave a delightful performance, moving about gracefully and naturally as if dancing were their second nature. The butterflies were in white, with long spotted wings; the fairies wore pink, blue and lavender, and the wood elves were in green, with autumn leaves.

Nobody seems to know how to go out and swim when it means leaving a pretty girl back on the beach.

Democracy. "Democracy implies infinity. Men are declared to be equal because it is discovered that all men, the least as well as the greatest, have or may have access to the infinite. The obvious disparities become insignificant in view of this great commonness. Infinity plus a million is seen to be no more than infinity plus one. If it were not for Democracy religion would be inconceivable; if a man's soul is measurable and transient, Democracy is ridiculous."—Charles Ferguson.

LA FOLLETTE LOOKING FORWARD TO 1916

Insurgent Republicans Regard Taft's Renomination as Certainty, But Will Boom La Follette for Leader Four Years Later

Special to Telegram.
(By RALPH M. WHITESIDE.)

Washington, July 5.—Senator La Follette does not expect to secure the Republican nomination for President next year. He and his fellow insurgents see no possible chance of beating President Taft for the nomination. He very confidently expects, however, to dominate the party in 1916 and not only to be its candidate then, but to be elected President. The whole policy of the insurgents is directed towards that result.

The Wisconsin Senator will have some support in the convention next year, just how much it is hard to estimate, but with the South and the big Eastern and middle Western States for the President, there will be necessity for only one ballot.

One of the leading insurgent Senators is authority for the statement just made. He further states that unless there is some radical and unlooked-for change in the situation, the insurgents see little chance for the re-election of Mr. Taft, especially if the Democrats nominate some pronounced progressive like Champ Clark or Woodrow Wilson.

The insurgent Senators after the nomination will maintain their party regularly and support the ticket honestly, but they are very frank in private, in expressing the opinion that the rank and file of the party in their States cannot be depended upon to vote for a conservative Republican against a progressive Democrat. Party lines are very lightly drawn west of the Mississippi and in some of the States immediately east of the Father of Waters.

Any young man who wants to wear the blue and brass of one of Uncle Sam's army officers may gratify that ambition now if he can pass the necessary examination. There are no less than 200 vacancies in the rank of second lieutenant which must be filled from civil life. Secretary of War Stimson says: "No political or other influence is necessary to gain appointment as commissioned officers in the United States army."

"While a diploma from a college is preferred it is not required, and any young man who can pass the examination will have an equal chance with those who have diplomas."

So, let those who would be soldiers bold get busy. I may be permitted to suggest that while it may be true as Secretary Stimson says, that "no political or other influence is necessary, etc.," it will not do an aspirant any great harm if he interests his Congressman and a Senator or so in his appointment.

Much interest attaches, from an engineering standpoint, to the trip of the battleship Delaware to Spithead, England, where it participated in the naval ceremonies incident to the coronation, and return, for the reason that the vessel is expected to make the entire round trip without taking on additional coal. The ship was directed to proceed at the rate of 12 knots, and it is believed that she will succeed in returning home without taking on coal on the other side, unless considerable cruising is done, which is not now contemplated.

The successful demonstration which the Delaware is expected to make in this respect will show a material improvement in the condition on board battleships, and with the use of oil as an auxiliary fuel amounts to a military asset. One thing which makes the accomplishment possible is the economy of fuel expenditure. It will help toward the relieving of the situation which finds the fleet with insufficient colliers, while it does not render it unnecessary, by any means, to regard the colliers as of any less importance.

The Washington friends of Elmer

Dover, one time right hand man of the late Senator Hanna, were rather astonished that he registered as from Portland, Oregon, on his recent visit to Washington.

For a few years Mr. Dover lived in Portland as the manager for a great corporation that controls public utilities in nearly 100 cities, and it is the Dover observation that, after all, business is more attractive than politics. This is a very frequent remark by men who have tried both.

My new home State, Oregon, was the first to pass a law requiring the elections of delegates to national conventions by primaries," said Dover. "It is called the Oregon plan, and other States are inclined to try it."

"Naturally there will be much interest all over the country in the actual workings of the Oregon plan, but there seems enthusiasm in Oregon for the plan, and comments are unnecessary until we see the results next year."

"As for the Republicans in Oregon, I think they are very much disposed to favor the renomination of President Taft, and not only in Oregon, but all through the West, there is a growing appreciation of the President, and a very sincere demand for his renomination. I can see no disposition in Oregon to use the new voting system against him, or in favor of any other Republican candidate."

"What the Democrats will do under the Oregon plan of voting I cannot say, since I have not been home since the visit of Woodrow Wilson to the State. The reports indicate that he made a good impression among Democrats in Oregon, and all along the Pacific coast. So he will, no doubt, figure prominently by the time the Democratic primaries are held in the State."

Vice Governor Newton W. Gilbert of the Philippine Islands, formerly a member of the House from Indiana, in the States for a vacation. It is the first time he has been here since he resigned from Congress, five years ago, to go to the Philippines, where he was appointed to the bench. He made the trip to Manila with the now famous "Taft party."

Governor Gilbert ridicules the suggestion of possible trouble between the United States and Japan. "The responsible government of Japan has no intention of going to war with any nation, least of all with the United States," said Governor Gilbert at the New Willard. "Japan has serious problems confronting her in Korea, Formosa and Manchuria. These problems are keeping her very busy, and with the further burden of backing many of the industries of the nation, particularly shipping, the country has no time for war. But if there were no other reason for cultivating friendship with the United States, Japan realizes that this country furnishes her greatest source of income. The exports from the port of Yokohama last year, for instance, were approximately $100,000,000, half of which came to the United States. Would the Japanese government entertain for a moment a proposition to cut off this market? The thought is absurd. There are very few Japanese in the Philippines. In Manila I doubt if there are 500 Japs, and there are probably 50,000 Chinese. The Japanese and the Japanese question are not disturbing the Americans in the Philippines."

"It might be considered presumptuous for me to venture an opinion on politics after so long an absence," said Governor Gilbert. "I have, however, supreme confidence that President Taft will be re-nominated and re-elected. In traveling in different parts of the world I meet many Americans of prominence, and the opinion expressed on every hand was that the President is growing not only in the esteem of the people, but in their affection. I have heard it declared on more than one occasion that the greatest President the country has had since Lincoln is Taft."

Irate Visitor—I call this a downright fraud! You advertise on your bills "The Most Remarkable Dwarf in the World," and he turns to be 5 feet 5 inches high. Bland Showman—Exactly so, sir. That's just what's so remarkable about him. He is the tallest dwarf on record.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the New Drug.

An eminent skin specialist recently discovered a new drug, othine—double strength, which is so uniformly successful in removing freckles and giving a clear complexion that it is sold by Howard Gardner under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first night's use will show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely. It is absolutely harmless, and cannot injure the most tender skin.

Be sure to ask Howard Gardner for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

Wall Street Swaps Money For Degrees

go without incurring the condemnation of Washington remains to be seen.

The principal European banks today show $2,483,176,000 gold on hand, as compared with $2,465,186,000 at this time last year, a decrease of $28,930,000. All the twelve institutions reporting show increases with the exception of the Bank of England and the Bank of France; these have sustained losses of $14,512,000 and $38,148,000 respectively.

The New York Clearing House banks, exclusive of the newly admitted trust companies, had on hand at the end of last week $402,298,000 cash, as compared with $327,595,000 last year, the increase, therefore, having been $74,703,000.

The gold holdings of the principal European centers are of special interest to the United States at this time in view of the decline in foreign exchange rates this week to 4.85% for demand sterling, a rate only a fraction of a cent per pound of the gold import basis. The best banking opinion now is that an inflow of gold will probably be inaugurated in July. Heretofore no movement had been looked for until autumn, when in the natural order of events interest rates here would advance and our exports of commodities would increase.

A tonic for pessimism has been prepared at Washington, not by Dr. Wiley, but by the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce. The thirty-third annual abstract contains inspiring figures. The wealth produced on our farms last year was $4,000,000,000 greater than ten years ago, the totals being $9,000,000,000 and $5,000,000,000, and it can be safely assumed that since then quite a few billions have been added to the total. In 1880 the gross value of manufactures was $5,333,000,000, whereas five years ago the figure reached $15,000,000,000, and has been greatly swelled since. We had 30,500 miles of railroads in 1880, 93,000 in 1880, 167,000 in 1890, 199,000 in 1900, and 250,000 in 1910. Imports last year aggregated $1,557,000,000 or more than twice the total of thirty years ago, while exports during the same period have risen from $835,000,000 to $1,745,000,000 last year, and we might add, the grand total for the current fiscal year will exceed $2,000,000,000. We are citizens of no mean country, a fact which Wall Street would do well not to forget even at the behest of the jaundiced crop killers.

TWINS MADE IT FOUR STRAIGHTS FROM GREENSBORO

Took Final Game Yesterday by Score of 5 to 3—Errors Responsible For Victory

Winston-Salem, July 5.—Swindell outlucked Morrissey this afternoon, and the Twins made it four straight from Greensboro. The third inning proved disastrous for Greensboro, when a couple of doubles, an error by Carroll and one by Rickard gave three runs. Greensboro made three in the eighth on a couple of singles, a double and two errors. The fielding of both teams was rather ragged, but Swindell's support was much better than that given Morrissey.

There were few features. Swindell hit one over the fence, Schumaker made a beautiful stop and recovery of a ground ball over first, and Stewart made a couple of pretty catches in center. Outside of these there was nothing spectacular. The hitting of Greensboro was not harder than that of the Twins, two of the Patriots' hits being very scratchy. Score by innings: R. H. E. Greensboro . . . 000 000 030—3 8 3 Winston-Salem . . . 003 000 11x—5 6 2 Batteries: Morrissey and Ware; Swindell and Edwards.

ANDERSON LOST YESTERDAY'S GAME TO THE HORNETS

Special to Telegram. Anderson, July 5.—Blanton started for the locals but weakened in the third and a new twirler, Graham, from Ware Shoals, S. C., was put in and pitched pretty fair ball, though he allowed bunched hits in the eighth. Hankie went up in the air in the fifth and was pounded heavily. First Baseman McCoy, of the locals, was at the bat twice and got a home run and a three-bagger during this inning. Score by innings: R. H. E. Charlotte . . . 014 000 240—11 12 2 Anderson . . . 100 070 002—10 15 7 Batteries—Hankie and Wysox. Blanton, Graham and Brannon. Umpire, Sheesley and Hayes; regular Umpire O'Brien was sick.

SPARTANBURG TOOK FINAL OF SERIES FROM GREENVILLE

Spartanburg, S. C., July 5.—With the locals fielding perfectly and running bases well the game was won by the Red Sox 5 to 3. Though none of the visitors errors, singly, were very costly they effected the runs. In the matter of errors it was quantity and not quality. Centerfielder Waggon, of the locals, was by far the star of the game both in hitting and fielding. Centerfielder Doak, of the visitors, made a spectacular one-hand catch running backwards. Score by innings: R. H. E. Spartanburg . . . 011 010 201—5 6 0 Greenville . . . 010 001 010—3 8 5 Batteries—Ferrell and Westlake and Ochs, Flowers, Ridgeway and Kite. Umpire, Nugent.

PATRIOTS OUTBATTED TWINS DURING THE SERIES JUST CLOSED

That there is a great element of luck in baseball is being constantly proved, but never was there a more shining example of it than the series with Winston that closed yesterday. The Patriots really played as good ball as the Twins—and any Winston player will tell you so—luck just broke the other way.

To beat out this statement, let's look at the official scores. In the four games the Greensboro players out-batted the Twins. The totals are: Greensboro, 33; Winston-Salem 31. The errors on each side were the same—9 for each team.

Then you inquire, why did we get so severely beaten? Because the Twins hit when hits are needed most and the Patriots do not. Another reason is the good generalship of Clancy, who knows just where to use a certain pitcher, and better still, knows how to take him out before he loses the game.

The game here Tuesday afternoon was won by the Twins beyond any question. Boyle's splendid work kept the locals from getting an earned run. But as to the other three games they were any-Lody's. Tuesday morning's game went to Winston because of Rickard's error, and with a little change in baseball luck Monday's and Wednesday's would have resulted differently.

Before getting discouraged Greensboro fans should study what the two teams did. The Patriots are in just as good shape as ever. They are still the best team in the league. With one or two additions to the pitching staff we can yet get the pennant.

Joe Meadows Hurt In Runaway.

Joe Meadows, the congenial proprietor of the confectionery store and ice cream parlors located at 237 West Lee street, was painfully injured by being thrown from his cart by a runaway pony. The accident will not be serious in its effect but as a result Mr. Meadows is carrying a badly sprained right arm in a sling and is forced to wear several bandages on the left side of his head, which bore the brunt of the heavy fall to the ground.

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr. Meadows was driving down Lee street a new and rather timid pony hitched to a two-wheeled cart. The animal became frightened at some unknown cause and bolted away in a wild dash. The driver stuck to his seat but the animal could not be guided and when he reached Five Points, he hurled the cart into the rear wheel of a buggy occupied by Robert Morrison. Mr. Meadows was thrown into the air to a height of several feet from the force of the blow. He landed upon his head and arms, and severe sprains were sustained in the limbs and cuts on the head. However, the wounds were soon treated and Mr. Meadows expects to be fully recovered in a short time.

DIAMOND DUST

Where They Play Today.
Greensboro at Greenville.
Spartanburg at Charlotte.
Anderson at Winston.

It is all the more humiliating when we think who beat us.

Our feeble vocabulary is entirely too diminutive to cope with the exigencies of the situation.

If Manager Doyle suspends every pitcher that lost to Winston-Salem this time, he'll have to put "Tiny" Stuart in the box.

The Patriots move down to Greenville today, and may be they will win a few games when they tackle Dick Smith's aggregation.

The next games here will be the first three days of next week when Anderson will be here. The last three days of the week the Greenville team will be our guests.

Another game in which we got the most hits. The same thing happened Tuesday morning, and Monday we tied them.

Clancy's great generalship is what accounts for Winston's winning team. He knows how to marshal men and how and when to use them.

The number of paid admissions at Cone Park Tuesday afternoon was 3,347, which is the largest number of people that ever attended a game of league ball in this state. There were about 200 dead-heads, so in all the attendance was over 3,500.

Three double headers are scheduled to be played in the Carolina Association today. On June 7 all the games were rained out and in the same towns today the games will be played. Anderson plays at Winston, Spartanburg at Charlotte and Greensboro at Greenville.
